A nighttime aerial photograph of a city. A long, illuminated bridge spans a body of water, connecting the foreground to a densely lit urban area in the background. The bridge's lights create a bright, continuous line across the dark water. The city skyline is visible in the distance, with numerous lights reflecting on the water's surface. In the foreground, there are some buildings and a street with parked cars, also illuminated by streetlights. The overall scene is a vibrant display of urban infrastructure at night.
